

In a Second

Pardon me if I'm not sympathetic, accidents change lives in a second.
But I'm managing, hope and blessings, that doesn't mean, it's all copacetic.

Handle all this pain; it's a part of me.
Still the same old friend, but now with these new terms.
How there all acting, it's a part of me.
I'm the same old friend who always listens, makes you laugh and smile with these few words.

Relearn to brush my teeth and move my hands, regain some freedom with my new big white van.
To get coffee, meet Jamie at 3, once helpless me continues beating adversity

Handle all this pain; it's a part of me.
Still the same old friend, but now with these new terms.
How there all acting, it's a part of me.
I'm the same old friend who always listens, makes you laugh and smile with these few words.

You're called to be, it's happening, keep getting up.
You know they all are watching, they all are waiting, their caught staring, keep getting up.
Keep on savoring, everything, it's happening, keep on getting up, keep on getting up.

Handle all this pain; it's a part of me.
Still the same old friend, but now with these new terms.
Handle all this pain; it's a part of me.
I'm the same old friend who always listens, makes you laugh and smile with these few words.

Out sitting alone in the park, without holding hands.
